

ENTREPRENEURSHIP: BUSINESS TIME!

ABOUT & HOW TO USE

This is a pedagogical package for entrepreneurship. The focus of this package is on jobs and the different skills that you need for a certain job. It also teaches you how to run a simple business. There is a short introduction to every assignment telling you what to do. This package is best used after the game.

YOU CAN SHOW THE TASKS TO STUDENTS FROM STUDENT'S VIEW PDF.

LET YOUR STUDENTS BE RIDICULOUS!

ALL WORK AND ALL PLAY

In this assignment, students come up with different ridiculous jobs for their planet. It works as an introduction to this package. You can gather the jobs on a blackboard, with post-its or by using whichever gathering method you prefer.

TASK

Pick up a planet card from the deck or use the planet you have had already. Come up with as many different jobs for your planet as possible. The more ridiculous, the better, but take notice of the special conditions on your new home - what are the characteristics of your planet? Just don't end up with bionaut, diplonaut, chiefonaut, stylonaut and protectonaut...

LOLLIPOP
PRESERVATOR

CHIEF OF CHEESE
HARBOUR

WANTED!

In this assignment students continue working with the jobs they have come up with in the previous "All work and all play" assignment. Now, they have to plan an advertisement, which attracts people or creatures to apply for the job. Gather all the advertisements and establish an employment agency.

TASK

Plan a job advertisement for some of the jobs that you have come up with. What skills does operator of alien farts vacuumer need? How about Mimsy's personal sugar level supervisor? How much do they get paid? How are the working hours? Does the job have some benefits? What kind of a person or a creature should apply for the job? And yes, alien fart vacuumer is a highly appreciated job in these parts of the universe.

Assignments "All work and all play" and "Wanted" can be put to a different context. For example the Intergalactic Space Station.

YOU LOOK LIKE A UMH... THE RIGHT ONE FOR THIS JOB!

In this assignment students practice applying for a ridiculous job. They will pick one ridiculous job advertisement and write or video their application for a the job. You can also have the students interview the applicants for the job or combine the written application and the interview. To spice it up, have the students take a role of a creature and then apply for the job.

TASK

Pick one job advertisement and write or video an application for that particular job. Pay attention to the details of the job advertisement and to the competences and skills that are required. Remember NOT to tell all the goofy stuff. This is serious! No, wait, actually, it's ridiculous.

LET'S DO BUSINESS

This assignment focuses on establishing a company or a business in the Space Adventure universe. The idea of the business can be anything the students can come up with or it can counter or co-op the impact cards of the game. For example to counter the alien fart impact card the business can be alien fart vacuuming. Or to co-op for example with the intergalactic tourists impact card the business can be an intergalactic tourist agency. If you want to involve impact cards, remember to have students pick one from the deck. And if the business counters or co-op with the impact cards can the businesses be played during the actual game.

TASK

Startup fever is sweeping through the universe! Now it's time to start a company and watch the money roll right in! So come up with a company or a business that operates in the LUPU universe. Come up with a business idea. For example a company that offers services in case of gigantic alien farts (this is the ultimate business idea!). And tell others something more about the company. Lastly, design a cool logo fitting the business idea of your company.
